RATIFICATION MEETING AT THE CRAWFORD GRAND.

A Large Crowd, Enthusiastic Meeting With Many Speeches and a Sort of an Intellectual "Toot."

The Republican ratification meeting last aight at the Crawford over the action of the Dodge City congressional convention was a success complete. The attendance was large and the speeches short and many. The enthusiasm was such as would naturally be expected over the nomination of Col. Hallowell. The Cayote club of Larned, with its original campaign music, was a drawing and retaining card, being a happy feature of the occasion." The Board of Trade band gave the first music of the fall campaign on the streets about 8 o'clock. The people commenced to go in the direction of the opera house. The crowd was a large and composed of the leading people of the city. When Col. Hallowell arrived they made the fact known by cheers. Mr. Joe Henley, chairman of the Republican county central committee appeared on the stage accompanied by Col. Hallowell, the Hon. W. C. Edwards, of Larned: James Kelly, of Pratt; Geo. Findley, of Topeka; James H. Reeder, of Hays City; Judge Frank Price, of Ashland; Theo Botkin, Col. M. M. Murdock, Judge H. C. Sluss, Judge T. B. Wall, the Hon E. B. Allen. They were greeted with applause, and Mr. Henley announced the meeting was to ratify the nomination of their fellow citizen, Col. Hallowell. It afforded great pleasure to state the fact of the nomination of Col. Hallowell as the standard bearer of the Republican party in the Seventh congressional district. He introduced Col. M. M. Murdock as chairman of the meeting, who was received with enthusiastic cheers. In accepting the position and assuming the duties he said:

These are hard times. It seems almost impossible for the people by individual ef-fort to keep their heads above the waves, equently the times are perplexing for political parties and politicians. Edwards for twelve years and his personal relations were such that he had done all he could for him in the convention. The speaker had something to say of the various candidates recalling something of personal instances and history. Coming down to the congressional convention he recalled Ed Sample's way of announcing Barber county's four votes for Hallowell. It was a sort of a "sample" an-

M. Geo. Finlay was presented and said he did not know he was a speaker until he found out he was on the program. He had been a delegate at large at the Dodge City convention. He had long known Col. Hal lowell and he was such a man as would lead the Republican party to victory in the coming contest. The people of the district would thoroughly know him be-

After another song by the club Judge Sluss was received with cheers and said it was no time to reason but time for a sort of a "toot." He had not known him as long as some of the "busted" fellows. He had heard of him before he reached the state but did not meet him for some years.

The speaker said it was one of proudest acts of his life to have supported Jim Hallowell at the Dodge City convention. He recalled some of Colonel Hallowell's record in the army. It was no wonder that the old fellows, the fellows who wear the blue loved Colonel Hallowell. His characteristics in early life and through life called for the Dodge City victory. The speaker thought there was no doubt about his election.

Judge Wall recalled that a few weeks ago he had presided over a county conven-tion which selected a strong delegation for Hallowell. The work assigned the delegation was accomplished and every citizen in Sedgwick county was glad of it. He had carned it by over forty battles, and earned it by overtwenty years in Kansas, and he would be supported with enthusi-asm. He would faithfully discharge all duties entrusted to him. He would soon he recognized as one of the strongest men in the Kansas delegation. The speaker warmly congratulated the Republicans on the work of the convention.

Senator O. H. Bentley said, "you can bet your life I am for Jim Hallowell." This was received with cheers. The colonel had worked hard for Wichita in '88 when Sen-ator Bentley was a candidate. Now it was time to return favors and he proposed to

Col. Hallowell was received with great applause; waiving of handkerchiefs, hats vention on the home stretch.

He said it was his time to bear testimony for for favors, received by the Sedgwick people. He had started in to win. The twenty delegates and twenty alternates had worked for him earnestly and the "contingent" had also been valuable. The Sedgwick delegation, alternates and "contingent" had supported him as loyally as did the Napoleon guards their leaders.

The nominating speech of Judge Reed had been most thoroughly complimented and very soon the convention concluded that Sedgwick had come after the congressman. He had been supported by many outside the county warm friends to whom he desires to return sincere thanks

The convention had provided a platform that was the shrill bugle notes of western Republicans and the result would be that the party would win in the coming contest.
He extended thanks for the earnest work in his support by his many friends in Sedgwick and elsewhere.

THE COUNTY NORNAL.

Yesterday's session of the normal institute opened with a calm, clear and bright atmosphere. The teachers were all apparently as fresh as the proverbial daisy, and no time was wasted in commencing the good work of the day. A large number were on hand to avail themselves of Prof. Lawrence's drill in calisthenic at 7:40 a. m. Prof. Naylor's classes are full of life and interest. His history class dwelt upon the relation of biography to history and elicited the point that a good way to interest children in the study of history is to get them to study the men whose actions ruled the world, and to have them write biographical sketches of these men and in doing so, they would easily and almost unconsciusly absorb the greatest of historical events and older pupils should discard the dry bones of history and be led into the philosophy of

The potato is one of the most important of cultivated plants, and in universal cultivation in temperate parts of the globe It is a native of mountain districts of tropical and sub-tropical America, probably from Chili to Mexico, but there is some question as to where it is really indigenous. Humboldt doubted if it had ever been found truly wild, but subsequent travelers of high scientific reputation ex-press themselves thoroughly satisfied Maire and potatoes are the two greatest gifts which America has given to the rest of the world. The potato has been cultivated in Amer ca and its tubers used for food for a time long anterior to the discovery of America by Europeans. It seems to have been brought first to Europe by the Spanisrds from the neighborhood of Quito in the Sixth century. No more important Sixth century. event of this kind has ever taken place than the introduction of potato culture into Great Britain and other European countries. It was long called "batains" or sweet potato, which is the tuber or plant meant by English writers down to the middle of the Seventeenth century. It appears to have been brought to "Ireland from Vir-ginia by Hawkins in 1985," "and to Eng-land by Sir Francis Drake in 1823."— Hall's Journal of Realth.

The mouth is not more distinctly the guteway to the alimentary system than the nose is to the respiratory, nor is it more carefully designed for preparing food to enter the stomach than is the nose for preparing air to enter the lungs.

It is important for all persons to be in-structed that the nose has three highly necessary functions related to breathing, and for which it is delicately adapted, besides those of an opening for air and a de-tective of bad air, viz.: to warm, to moisten, and to filter the air which it admits, and that neither of these functions can be performed by the mouth. However warm or cold the atmospheric temperature the air that however dry the external air may be it is completely saturated with moisture by passing through the nose. - Hall's Jour-

An Historic Tree.

The form most commonly taken by the tree myth is that some legislative act took place under the branches. The Parliament Oak is so called because King John in A back fine and a female peace disturber | beneath it and there dehated with them the same purpose. The Major Oak, be-lieved to be one of the oldest in England, is another about which traditions cling. And indeed the old tree has seen some history. King John, it is said, rested under it. Robin Hood slept beneath its shelter and the Cruswlers from England camped under it. It is 12 feet in circumfesence just above the roots. The branches spread at 240 feet across. The trunk has been hollow for an immemorial time, having cavity of 7 feet in diameter and 10 feet high. But the old tree is still bealthy sud

Novelties in Perfumes.

To the making of scents there is no end. Mr. Piesse, of the Bond street laboratory, told me that he introduces about four new scents every year. White like and crab apple blossom are in season just now. But the use of scent, owing to the introduction of eprays and the like, increased every year. A curious novelty is a piece of flansel or thin leather saturated with un edor called Peau d'Espagne. It is sewed inte a woman's dress and lasts for a long time. In fact it is almost permanent, Or a small piece of it will scent a gurment. The scent is also used in scap.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Substitute for Beef Ten.

Dr Ris of Kioten, emphatically recom mends per somp as a most serviceshie substitute for beef ton in the case of invalids, convalencents, and more especially for patients suffering from cancer of the stornach, or diabetes meilitus. The method he advises is: Take peas, water and a sufficient amount of some some vegetables, add % per cent of earbonate of sods, boiling the whole until the peas are completely disintegrated, the soup to stand until sedimentation is complete, and finally decant the fairly clear, thin fluid above the deposit. The product is stated to resemble a good meat soup in its taste, to be at least equaly digestible, and at the sun# time, to surpass the very best most soup in nutrities value. In regard to the latter claim Dr. Ris states in explanation that peas as well as beens or lentils, either of which may be used instead of pers. contain a considerable proportion of legumen, that is, a vegatable albumen, easily soluble in a faintly alkaline water, net coagulated by heat, readily absorbed, and equal to the albumen of egg in nutritionsness.—Exchange.

THE REST CURE.

Drugs and Medicat Dosing Unnecessary if Enough Sleep Is Taken.

221 E Douglas.

Drugs must go. Even the most conservative people are coming to the conclusion that drugs do not cure. If one has not fully given up the fallacy of dosing les him stop and consider what gives us surely it is not bad sir and bed food, nor can it be any nameous compound. What sound body could withstand the drugs given to the poor sick creatures that fill our land! It would sicken a well person, then surely it would not reclaim the sick. To get well one should have the most favorable surroundings, perfect rest for body, mind and nerves; keep quiet and take pienty of sleep, and stop enting for one, two or even three days, and you will be surprised to see how quickly kind nature vill come to your relief. One may learn how rapidly repose cures by observing the simple movements of a cat. When indisposed from whatever cause you cannot tempt pass with the freshest new milk even: she finds a quiet, clean, warm place, carls herself up and gently sleeps it off. If we do not sleep well, we do not live rell. People have many theories about sleep. Many who ought to know better advise a hearty meal before geing to bed. We think the process of digestion should be well under way before setiring. Quiet, pleasant exercise, such as a show walk or a rocking chair on the open possis, or better still an hour's drive, conduces wonder fully to refreaking sleep. Lake suppers especially of highly sessented foods, are really dangerous experiments, and bring on a condition of unrest intempersal with horrid dreams and sightmare that is only

By observing this plan a restful, refreshing night to passed, and cone gots up with a feeling of vigorous, re-cuperated strength, and a dump, appro-ciative appetite for breakfast that gives strength and vitality of the best sort for the activisies of the day. In this day of fact living and harry of business our nerves give out. We go to the doctor fer a remedy. He gives us stimulants for it be given anything it is a stimulant. "The nerves need strengthen-ing," he says. Yes, we know that, and long cometiting sectifue out restful; but when one looks over the storehouse of drugs he does not find anything that will give the desired effect. It is not there. There are remedies, however, that seem to serve the purpose, but the relief gained is at the expense of one "Malky. If you will turn to kind mature and ob-
